EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Is our current understanding of happiness and well-being too limiting? What else is important for a good life? Many of us wonder about these issues. There is a need to share cutting-edge insights on the science of happiness and well-being. The ways we think about happiness not only marginalises the experiences of different communities but deprives everyone of the fullest picture of what it means to live well, be well and do well. Here are some emerging ideas that we might want to ponder in our own lives.

There have been two answers to the question of a good life: a happy life, or a meaningful one. A happy life brings you comfort, joy, security and fun — you feel good and satisfied. A meaningful life, on the other hand, is more about feeling purposeful and significant, like you made a difference. Of course, our lives are usually a mix of both, with some people valuing one kind of pursuit more than the other. But a few years ago, Shigehiro Oishi, a researcher at the University of Virginia, asked a provocative question: Is there a third kind of good life, one that isn't defined by happiness or meaning? Eventually, his explorations led him to what he calls a psychologically rich life: a life of curiosity, adventure, novelty and variety, exploration and openness. Our lives become more psychologically rich when we study abroad, read certain kinds of books and change our perspectives.

There is also a kind of energetic happiness that is characterised by feelings of excitement, enthusiasm and elation. But researchers are now trying to study and elevate a different kind of happiness: quiet feelings of calm, balance and harmony. The Global Well-Being Initiative has worked with Gallup to ask people how calm, content, at peace, in balance and in harmony they feel in their daily lives. And they have learnt that when you ask people whether they'd prefer an exciting life or a calm life, most say they would like a calm life. Even though this idea of calm is inspired by Eastern notions of well-being, it is relevant to people globally. And people who experience more balance, harmony and peace are more satisfied with their lives.

They gorge on nectar to produce honey

New York: Honeypot Ants, or honey ants, are specialised workers of several species of ants whose sole job is to gorge on nectar until they become living honey-storage.

Several other species of bees, as well as bumblebees and even wasps are known to produce the sugary treat, but perhaps the most unusual insect able to convert nectar into honey is the honeypot ant. Belonging to a number of ant species, the most common of which is Camponotus inflatus, honeypot ants are specialised workers that act as living storage for their colonies when food is scarce.

Worker ants feed honeypots nectar collected from various plants until their abdomens expand to the point where they look ready to burst and spill the amber liquid inside.

Preserving tattoos even after death

Cleveland: Save My Ink Forever, a Cleveland-based company, offers people the opportunity to have their tattoos preserved as artworks after they pass away.

Third-generation mortician Michael Sherwood and his son Kyle came up with the idea for Save My Ink Forever a few years back, while having a few drinks with some friends. One of them said that he would like his ink preserved somehow and asked the Sherwoods how he should go about doing that. They laughed at the question at first, but their buddy pushed the issue and it got the two morticians thinking. Tattoos mean a lot to the people who have them inked on their bodies, as well as to their families, so it made sense that some of them would like them preserved. After devising a technique for removing and preserving tattoos, the Sherwoods founded Save My Ink Forever and started taking orders.

Water supply crisis in Vijayanagar 4th Stage

Sir,

In what appears to be a never-ending ordeal for residents of Vijayanagar 4th Stage 2nd Phase in Mysuru, a severe water supply crisis has been plaguing the locality for over a year now.

Multiple issues, including damaged supply pipes, subpar water quality and persistent complaints without resolutions, have left the residents frustrated and concerned. Prices of the plots have sky-rocketed to Rs. 6,000 per sqft and beyond but facilities have hit the rock bottom.

One of the primary issues exacerbating the water crisis is the prolonged neglect of damaged supply pipes. Residents have reported that multiple pipes have been damaged leading to wastage of precious drinking water and despite numerous complaints, they remain unfixed. This has resulted in significant water wastage and an unreliable water supply, leaving the community in a perpetual state of uncertainty.

To compensate for the disrupted supply, supplementary water is provided through water tanks. However, residents have expressed deep dissatisfaction with the quality of water supplied through these tanks. Many claim that the water is often discoloured and carries a pungent odour, making it unsuitable for consumption.

Other major problems with MUDA supplied water tanks are constant argument and altercation with water tank suppliers which is affecting the quality of life of the residents.

Residents have made repeated complaints to the authorities regarding these pressing issues, but there seems to be no concrete progress in resolving them. Despite numerous phone calls and written complaints, the water supply woes persist without respite. The lack of timely action by the concerned agencies has left residents feeling unheard and abandoned.

Officer delves into influence of religion on tribal culture

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (MTY&BS)- Dr. Venkatagiri Dalavai, Special Officer of the Department of Tribal Welfare, expressed deep concern about the encroachment of religion into the lives of tribal communities, which have long been regarded as the original inhabitants of the land.

Speaking at a national-level seminar on the theme of 'Tribal Transition in India: Issues and Challenges,' organised by the Karnataka State Tribal Research Institute (KSTRI) in Mysuru recently, Dr. Dalavai delivered his thoughts at the institute's Dattagalli premises in the city.

In his address, Dr. Dalavai remarked, "In recent times, the emergence of religious issues has ignited tensions within tribal communities. Traditionally, elements such as air, water and light held spiritual significance for tribals. However, we now witness the influence of religions within tribal cultures, inadvertently fostering divisions among them."

While some tribes receive substantial support, others often find themselves marginalised. It is of paramount importance that we critically examine the origins of this disparity and unveil the underlying motives behind it, he opined.

He went on to underscore that the original settlers of the forests face significant challenges in adapting to modernisation, with insufficient Government intervention to aid them in overcoming their difficulties. Dr. Dalavai emphasised the Govt's responsibility in addressing tribal grievances and actively participate in their holistic development.

He believed that this approach would enable tribal communities to preserve their unique identities while effectively engaging with the demands of modern society. Dr. Dalavai also called for a paradigm shift in the treatment of tribes and in the methodologies used for researching their lives and cultures. He highlighted a striking paradox concerning tribal dietary habits. Although tribal communities traditionally practise abundant animal hunting as an integral part of their heritage, drawing from practices outlined in their epics and deriving sustenance from the forest, these traditional dietary norms often face criticism and censure from Governing Bodies.

He expressed his dismay at this situation, explaining that despite their deep-rooted affinity with the forest, tribal groups are frequently restrained from utilising the resources available in the forest environment. He criticised projects such as resorts and reservoirs for their failure to account for the distinctive needs and lifestyles of tribal communities, which he referred to as the true children of the forest.

In addition to Dr. Dalavai's thought-provoking insights, Dr. L. Srinivasa, Director of KSTRI, shared the Institute's noteworthy achievements, which included an exhaustive empirical study involving 26 distinct tribal communities and a comprehensive evaluation of 18 Govt.-sponsored projects and activities.

Understanding nature's cues to save lives

Dr. Dalavai's presentation also delved into the remarkable survival of the Jarawa tribe during the devastating Tsunami of 2004, which wreaked havoc in India, Indonesia and several other countries. The Special Officer recounted a gripping narrative of how the tribe's acute observation of natural signals enabled them to anticipate the impending disaster.

Responding with extraordinary swiftness, the tribe relocated to higher ground, carrying their belongings and even their pets with them, thus narrowly escaping the catastrophic event. Dr. Dalavai seized upon this episode as compelling evidence of the profound and intrinsic connection between tribal communities and the natural world, underscoring how their keen understanding of nature's cues saved their lives.

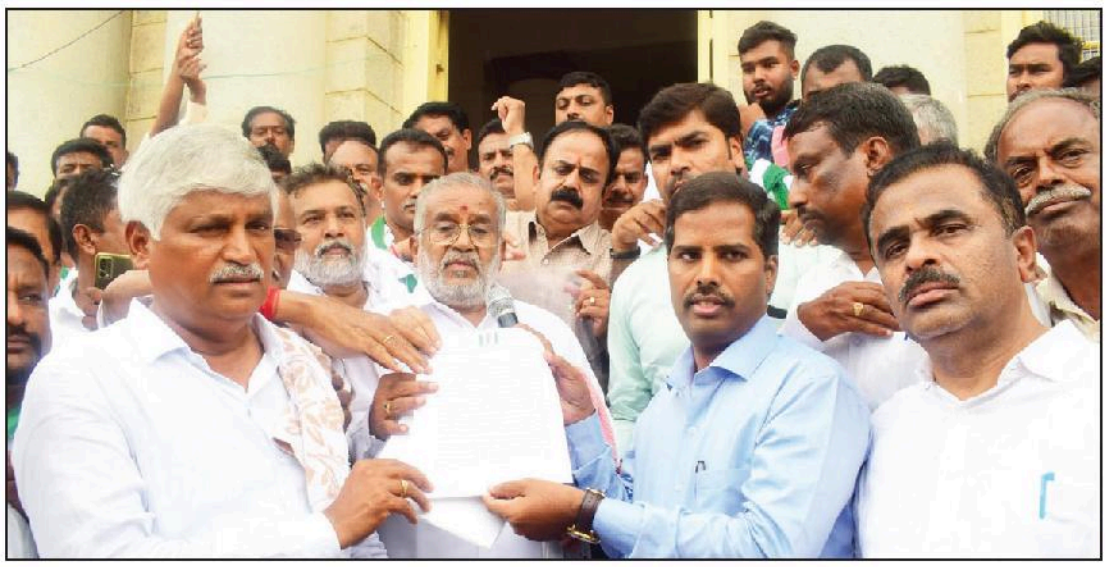
Cauvery protests intensify; JD(S) joins bandwagon



Mandya, Sept. 3- Strongly condemning the release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu, the JD(S) staged a massive protest in the Sugar Town of Mandya on Saturday urging the Government to immediately stop release of water and come to the rescue of Karnataka farmers.

Hundreds of JD(S) workers, who gathered at Mandya's Silver Jubilee Park, marched in a procession to Sir M. Visvesvaraya statue where the Raitha Hitarakshana Samiti has been staging an indefinite stir for the past several days.

Addressing the massive gathering near the statue, JD(S) MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) and former MLA C.S. Puttaraju lashed out at the State Government for releasing Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu when the KRS Dam is seeing a constant dip in water level due to poor monsoon. Later, the two leaders led a march to Mandya DC Office and submitted a memorandum to DC Dr. Kumara to be forwarded to the Governor. Throughout the march, the protestors raised slogans condemning the State Government for showing disregard to the plight of State farmers and the people.

Addressing the protestors GTD asked the Congress Government to come out of excitement over its pre-poll guarantees and make serious efforts to address the problems of the State farmers who are coping with poor monsoon rains and crop loss. Charging the Government of turning a blind eye to relentless protests by Mandya farmers over release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu, GTD hit out at the State Government for failing to tackle farmer issues when the State is staring at drought.

Accusing the Congress Government of failing to strongly defend the State before the Cauvery Water Management Authority, he said that the Karnataka Government has also miserably failed in presenting its case before the Supreme Court. "The Government's failure to convince the SC and Cauvery Water Authority has dealt a big blow to the farmers of Karnataka," he said.

Former MLA Puttaraju who also addressed the protestors, said that the Cauvery basin had received 51 percent shortfall of rain this year.

Stating that the farmers of Cauvery basin are seeking release of water for growing Paddy, he alleged that Tamil Nadu is asking water for growing two crops at a time when farmers in Karnataka are finding it extremely difficult to get water for even one crop. But the State Government has completely ignored the plight of our farmers while releasing water to Tamil Nadu despite low water level in KRS reservoir, he said and urged the Government to stop release of water to TN immediately. The JD(S) will not remain a silent spectator over the issue and fight for the cause of the farmers, he maintained.

K.R. Pet MLA H.T. Manju, former MLAs D.C. Thammanna, K. Annadani, K. Sureshgowda and Ravindra Srikantaiah, former MLC K.T. Srikantegowda, leaders G.B. Shivakumar, B.R. Ramachandra, Ravi , D. Ramesh and others took part in the protest.

KRRS stir on Sept. 5 to stop water release; seeks drought declaration

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (MTY&DM)- Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) President Badagalapura Nagendra said that the KRRS will stage a stir in all district centres of the State on Sept. 5 to urge the Government for declaring the State as 'Drought hit' and to seek fulfillment of long pending farmer demands.

Addressing a press meet here yesterday, Nagendra urged the Government to immediately stop release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu. Asking the State Government to file a review petition before the Supreme Court against the Cauvery Water Management Authority's ruling over water release, he urged the Centre to intervene for finding a long lasting solution to the raging row. "The State Government should petition the SC seeking a water sharing formula during crisis as part of resolving the row", he said.

Continuing, Nagendra wanted the Government to pay a compensation of Rs. 25,000 per acre as farmers in lieu of non-release of water and suggested that both Karnataka and Tamil Nadu should promote micro water management as it will largely help in saving our lakes, ponds and other water bodies.

Expressing concern that the Cauvery row might further escalate with rising population in cities and towns, he stressed on the need for finding an amicable solution to the Cauvery row.

KRRS office-bearers Prasanna N. Gowda, P. Marankaiah and Mandakalli Mahesh were present at the press meet.

Karnataka Sena Pade stages protest

Strongly condemning the State Government's action of releasing Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu, activists of Karnataka Sena Pade staged a demonstration in front of the ZP Office here yesterday.

Addressing the protestors, Sena Pade President Tejesh Lokesh Gowda opposed the formation of Cauvery Water Management Authority in the first place. Alleging that the Authority was set up by the Centre due to pressure from Tamil Nadu leaders, he said that the Authority is proving to be a death knell for Karnataka by repeatedly ordering release of water. Urging the Government to scrap the Authority, he maintained that constant release of water will result in a much severe water crisis in the State and the people may find it hard to get even drinking water. All MPs of the State should seek the Centre and the Authority on sending an expert team to study water storage in Karnataka's Cauvery basin reservoirs before making any order on water release.

Sena Pade office-bearers Shylaja, Junior Bangarappa, Raghu, Neha, Shivalingaiah, Siddaraju and others were present.

Fund crunch hits restoration of Saraswathipuram Fire Station

A portion of the heritage Fire Brigade building that collapsed four years ago, is yet to be restored. Now, Archaeology Department has prepared an estimate for Rs. 3.9 crore. Will the restoration works begin?

In August 2019

In August 2023

By A. Ganesh

Mysuru, Sept. 3- At last, it appears that things are falling into place for the restoration of the 120-year-old heritage Fire Station building on Kantharaja Urs Road in Saraswathipuram.

The Department of Archaeology, Heritage and Museums is all set to submit a proposal for Rs. 3.9 crore to the District Administration to initiate the necessary repairs. However, a significant hurdle remains in the form of inadequate funds within the Fire and Emergency Services Department, which is looking to the district authorities with hopeful expectations.

Four years ago, during heavy rain, a part of the building's facade, which had become dilapidated, collapsed. Since then, no steps have been taken to restore the damaged portion. Now, the Department of Archaeology, Heritage and Museums has prepared an estimate of Rs. 3,90,81,727 for the restoration work. A report regarding this proposal will be submitted to the District Administration within a week.

We will provide expertise

"We will initiate the restoration work in compliance with the recommendations of the District Heritage Committee once the District Administration allocates the necessary funds. If the Fire Department chooses to undertake the repair work independently, we will offer the services of expert workers experienced in restoring heritage structures."

— A. Devaraju, Commissioner, Department of Archaeology, Heritage and Museums

"I will soon discuss the matter with the District Heritage Committee and invite tenders to expedite the repair work.

— K. Harishgowda, Chamaraja MLA

Many assurances, no action

When the building partially collapsed, the Chief Minister, former Chief Ministers, Ministers, local elected representatives and others made visits at different intervals, each offering assurances of prompt repair work. Unfortunately, these promises remained on paper and were not realised.

This building currently serves as the main office of the Fire and Emergency Services Department, covering five districts: Mysuru, Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Kodagu and Hassan.

Following the collapse of the structure, the main office was relocated to the Hebbal Fire Station, while the Offices of the Regional Fire Officer (RFO) and Fire Officer were moved to the Bannimantap Fire Station. However, around 60 lower-ranking staff members continue to work at Saraswathipuram Fire Station, despite concerns for their safety.

No money in Fire Service Department

P.S. Jayaramaiah, Chief Fire Officer (CFO) of Mysuru Division, told SOM, "We had written to the Public Works Department (PWD) six months ago, requesting repairs to the building without compromising its original structure. In response, PWD officials estimated the repair cost at Rs. 45 lakh. Subsequently, we deposited Rs. 22 lakh from the Fire Department's account into the PWD account."

"However, the PWD officers have indicated that they will commence the work only after the pending amount is settled. We have also approached our Chief Office in Bengaluru for funding, but unfortunately, no funds are currently available in our Department," he added.

If the necessary funds are provided, work will commence as soon as the amount is deposited into the PWD account. CFO Jayaramaiah added, "Even if the work is carried out in accordance with the estimate provided by the Department of Archaeology, Heritage and Museums, and the funds are released, we have no objections," he said.

By 2047, no place for corruption, casteism, communalism: PM Modi

New Delhi, Sept. 3 (Agencies)- India will be a developed nation by 2047. Corruption, casteism and communalism will have no place in our national life," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said in an interview with a news agency this morning, ahead of the G20 summit in the national capital.

He stated that the theme of India's G20 Presidency 'Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam' is not just slogan but comprehensive philosophy derived from our cultural ethos. Facelift for Mysuru-T. Narasipur, Mysuru-Nanjangud Highways

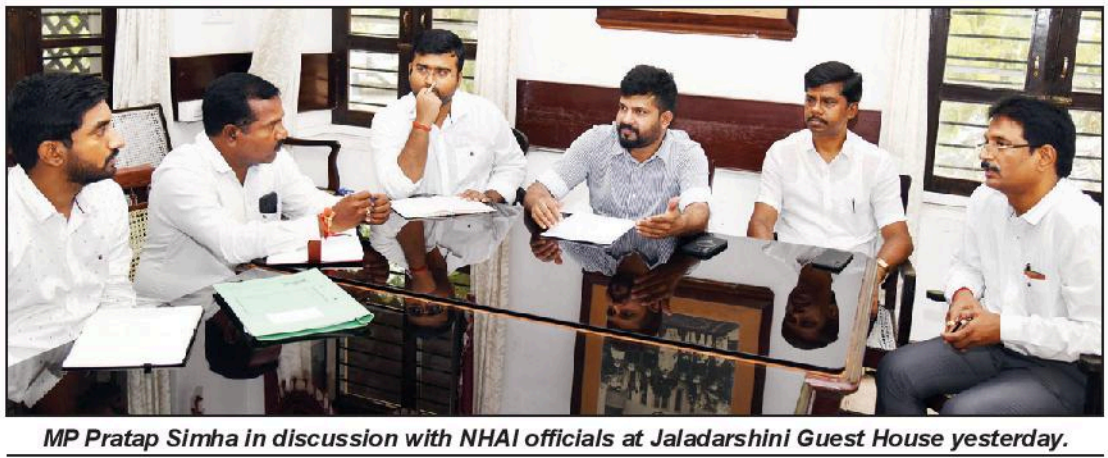
MP asks NHAI Officers to identify accident spots and take remedial measures before Dasara



MP Pratap Simha in discussion with NHAI officials at Jaladarshini Guest House yesterday.

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (RK&BCT)- A comprehensive road improvement project is set to transform Mysuru-T. Narasipur and Mysuru-Nanjangud Highways (131-km National Highway 766 from Kollegal-T. Narasipur-Mysuru-Nanjangud-Gundlupet) at an estimated cost of Rs. 127 cr. MP Pratap Simha announced this initiative, which has secured approval from Central Government.

Speaking to officials from National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) along with Mayor Shivakumar at Jaladarshini Guest House yesterday, Simha underscored the urgency of repairing and resurfacing the Mysuru-Nanjangud stretch ahead of the forthcoming Dasara festival. During Dasara, heavy traffic, including VIP movements, is expected between Mysuru and Nanjangud, necessitating immediate attention to 22-km stretch.

Simha also confirmed that Mysuru-T. Narasipur stretch would undergo repair and resurfacing, with the contract incorporating road separations to boost safety.

Special attention will be devoted to identifying and addressing black spots or accident-prone areas along the route. Additionally, vegetation clearance will be conducted to improve visibility.

Furthermore, the MP disclosed a proposal to convert the Nanjangud-Gundlupet stretch into a four-lane Highway due to heavy traffic. The Detailed Project Report (DPR) is in the finalisation stage and there is sufficient available land for Highway widening. A notable area of concern is the section near Varuna at Dodda Aladamara, close to the Ring Road Junction in Mysuru, which has been identified as a black spot due to frequent accidents. To tackle this issue, the proposal includes erecting road dividers, particularly in accident-prone zones. This development will contribute significantly to the overall enhancement of the road, according to the MP.

a 5-year maintenance period by the contractor. To efficiently allocate these funds for road development, officials are urged to demonstrate keen interest and expedite labour-intensive tasks. Objective is to complete the project in time for Dasara festival.

Due to ongoing restoration work, the road will be temporarily closed. Engineers will be required on-site to oversee layout improvements, including repairing reflectors on road dividers, filling ditches and enhancing

Greater Mysuru plan stalled for political reasons: Simha

Congress has a historical record of neglecting empowerment of Dalits, Muslims, says MP

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (RK&BCT)- Accusing Congress and Chief Minister Siddharamaiah of obstructing the BJP and JD(S)'s vision for Greater Mysuru, MP Pratap Simha argued that the Congress party has a historical record of neglecting the empowerment of Dalits and Muslims.

He highlighted that Dalits have been confined to specific Dalit colonies and Muslims to particular neighbourhoods (mohallas), while Congress leaders lead lavish lifestyles in Sadashivanagar, Bengaluru.

During a press briefing in Mysuru, Simha disclosed that Greater Mysuru proposal was originally slated for discussion in Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Council meeting on Thursday, (Aug. 31) before it could receive approval and be forwarded to the Government. However, on the same day, MCC officials and staff were summoned to Bengaluru by Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh ostensibly for a discussion on civic matters, leading to the cancellation of the MCC Council Meeting.

Simha expressed strong criticism, stating, "Despite providing Council members with a 7-day notice, MCC Commissioner Ashaad-ur-Rahman Shariff violated the law and acted as an agent for the Minister, whose primary objective was to suppress any discourse on Greater Mysuru. The Commissioner acted in line with the anti-development stance of the Congress."

"The ambitious Greater Mysuru plan faced rejection for political reasons. In the upcoming Municipal Corporation elections, the people will teach Congress a lesson. BJP has consistently contributed to the city's scientific development by introducing projects such as the Peripheral Ring Road and the Greater Mysuru City Corporation. However, Congress appears content with keeping its voter base in slums and lacks an understanding of development concepts," he asserted.

"Greater Mysuru encompasses Yelwal Gram Panchayat, Srirampura Town Panchayat, Siddalingapura, Rammanahalli, Kadakola, Hootagalli, Chamundi Hill, Bogadi and Alanahalli within MCC's jurisdiction. Although these areas are on the outskirts of the city, they have developed urban characteristics and are closely connected to Mysuru. Incorporating them into the MCC and establishing Greater Mysuru was seen as a strategic move for enhanced planning and development. However, Congress, in its wisdom, undermined this initiative, revealing an anti-development stance," Simha said.

"While BJP meticulously planned Greater Mysuru to ensure organised development, the Congress exhibits an anti-development stance. The Congress has resisted Greater Mysuru because it lacks significant projects of its own to claim. Whether it's the Peripheral Ring Road, Outer Ring Road, Jal Jeevan Mission, the establishment of a Liquid Medical Oxygen Plant, new hostels and more, all of these have been accomplished by BJP," he emphasised.

MP Simha also criticised Congress for its choice of discussion topics during the Karnataka Development Programme (KDP) meetings, emphasising that significant development issues were neglected while hours were spent on less critical matters. "During this session, the Chief Minister himself chaired the meeting and only minor matters were addressed while important development issues were overlooked," he added.

'Explain to people why they should vote against me'

MP Pratap Simha dares CM Siddharamaiah to show his 40-year contribution to Mysuru

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (RK&BCT)- Congress and Chief Minister Siddharamaiah faced scathing criticism from MP Pratap Simha, who accused the party of obstructing BJP and JD(S)'s vision for Greater Mysuru.

Speaking to reporters in Mysuru yesterday, the MP elaborated on how the Congress appeared to lack a vision for Mysuru, focusing primarily on appeasement politics. Actually, his response was directed at Siddharamaiah's call to defeat him (Simha) in the upcoming Lok Sabha elections.

"Siddharamaiah must clarify why he has urged the people to vote against me in the elections. I am just an MP, whereas you hold the position of Chief Minister with a massive mandate. Your appeal, with folded hands, to specific communities to defeat me reflects your dire situation and your true intentions," charged Simha.

The MP addressed Siddharamaiah, saying, "You need to explain to the people why they should vote against me. Is it because the BJP and I implemented the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway project? Is it because we conceived the Greater Mysuru Project for better administrative efficiency? Is it because we planned a Peripheral Ring Road for Mysuru? Is it because we brought drinking water to most areas in Mysuru from the Kabini and KRS Dams under the Jal Jeevan Mission? Is it because we laid the foundation for a 4-lane Highway between Mysuru and Kushalnagar?"

Continuing his pointed critique, Pratap Simha added: "I played a major role in establishing the Passport Seva Kendra in Mysuru and the BJP and I upgraded the Mysuru Ring Road to a National Highway, which is now well-lit. Even you use the Ring Road and the Bengaluru Expressway now. You did not cooperate in upgrading the Mysore Airport when you were the CM earlier, but I secured Rs. 319 crore from CM Basavaraj Bommai," he emphasised. "Is it a crime that I initiated the process of converting the 23-km road between Mysuru and Nanjangud into a 6-lane Highway? I secured Rs. 49 crore to develop Chamundi Hill under the PRASHAD scheme. I am currently preparing a Detailed Project Report (DPR) to transform the Exhibition Grounds into a year-round venue for shows and entertainment, allocating Rs. 80 crore for this under the Swadesh Darshan scheme. Is this a wrongdoing? We've identified 26 acres in Huyilalu for an international cricket stadium in Mysuru and convinced the Karnataka State Cricket Association to invest Rs. 100 crore in it. Is this my fault?"

"Siddharamaiah has enjoyed power for over 40 years. He should provide a list of his contributions to Mysuru. Instead of urging one community to oppose me, Siddharamaiah should make a similar appeal in areas like Kuvempunagar, Siddarthanagar and Saraswathipuram. Siddharamaiah is known for his divisive policies and staunch support for events like Mahisha Dasara and Tipu Jayanthi. It is under his support and blessings that many Hindus have been killed in Karnataka," concluded Simha.

Dengue Ratha to create awareness on wheels in district

MP Pratap Simha, KR MLA T. S. Srivatsa and DHO flag off the van adorned with huge mosquito model

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (SBD&BS)- Dengue Ratha, a van with boards on do's and don'ts to create awareness on dengue fever in the district, was flagged off in city last evening.

A joint initiative of National Health Mission (NHM), District Health and Family Welfare Society, Department of Health and Family Welfare and Office of District Vector Borne Diseases Control Officer, Dengue Ratha will travel for about two months, creating awareness in various parts of the district.

A big-size model of a mosquito has been installed on the top of the vehicle to send across a message over how grave the situation would be, if we tend to ignore mosquito. Besides several awareness slogans in Kannada like — Ellara Sahabagitvadondige Dengueannu Solisona (Let's defeat dengue with coordinated efforts), Solleya Kadita Chikkadu, Aadare Apaya Doddadu (The mosquito bite is small, but the danger is big), Cement Thotti Haagu Drummugalalli Neerannu Varakkeradu Bari Khali Madi Swachchagolisi (Empty and clean the water in drums and cement tanks twice a week) can be seen on the vehicle.

The boards with Information, Education and Communication (IEC) messages in Kannada, have also been fixed around the vehicle. What is dengue? How it spreads? What are the precautions to be taken? and What to do if affected by dengue? These are the few of several such IEC messages, put around the vehicle.

A public address system is also fixed on the vehicle to deliver awareness messages. State Government has sanctioned funds for the programme, being implemented in association with Department of Health and Family Welfare and various other units.

District Health Officer (DHO) Dr. P.C. Kumaraswamy flagged off 'Dengue Ratha,' that went around different parts of city in the day. The local elected representatives in respective areas will flag off awareness programmes at local level, along with the staff of Health and Family Welfare Department and local body Officers and staff. The ratha will stop near schools, colleges and busy junctions, where pamphlets will be distributed to create awareness.

Awareness plays a key role in controlling any epidemic, along with precautions taken by the people which can keep the disease at bay. In view of this, the Department of Health and Family Welfare had brought it to the attention of the Government, the necessity of awareness programmes in urban and rural areas. Now, 'Dengue Ratha' has been flagged off. Last year, about 4,500 tests were conducted in the district, while this year, over 4.600 tests have been conducted from January till date and 426 dengue cases have been identified. More tests have been conducted at rural areas, with the target of conducting 10,000 tests by the year end.

If the testing is increased, the chances of identifying more cases are possible. It will also help in timely treatment of the patients and also cure them, stated District Vector Borne Diseases Control Officer Dr. S. Chidambara.

MP, MLA also flag off

Similarly, Mysuru and Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and KR MLA T.S. Srivatsa flagged off the 'Dengue Ratha' at Jaladarshini Guest House premises and Krishnaraja Assembly Constituency respectively.

MLA Srivatsa gave a call to the people to give priority to health and ensure that water do not accumulate around the house during rainy season. The Dengue Ratha will go around Krishnaraja Constituency for three days covering circles, market, schools and colleges and busy junctions.

Corporator Sowmya Umesh, Officers of Health and Family Welfare Department, BJP Spokesman M. Mohan, BJP District OBC Unit President Jogi Manju, Pradeep, Kishore, Keerthi, Nishanth, Shivaraj and others were present.

Take steps to prevent fish deaths in Lingambudhi Lake: DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra

Dr. K.V. Rajendra

Mysuru, Sept. 3- "Hold consultations with the experts in the Fisheries Department or with professionals and come up with a plan to prevent the death of fishes at Lingambudhi Lake," instructed Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra.

Chairing a meeting at his Office yesterday regarding mass death of fishes at Lingambudhi Lake, the DC instructed the officials concerned to grow aquatic plants to create a natural environment for fishes besides asking the officials to take steps for D-Stocking and install litter-traps for storm water drains carrying rain water to the Lake. He also instructed the officials to see that the Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) around the Lake were maintained properly and take up de-silting and cleaning of Raja Kaluves.

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. K.N. Basavaraju, who too spoke at the meeting, said that polluted water which flowed into the Lake through the Raja Kaluve, which passed through residential layout surrounding the Lake and depleted oxygen level, had led to the mass death of fishes in the Lake.

He further said that dead fishes have been sent to the laboratory in Mangaluru for scientific investigation.

Officials from various Departments were present.

When Soundarya contacted the above number, she was told to invest money and complete the tasks giver to her to earn more money. The fraudsters then got Rs. 1,68,360 transferred from her Bank account but did not give any tasks thus cheating her.

A case has been registered at City's CEN Police Station.

Man loses Rs. 10.10 lakh advance paid to buy house in city

Mysuru, Sept. 3 (KS)- A 43-year-old resident of Gayathripuram in the city, M.S. Ramachandra, finds himself a victim of deception after paying an advance of Rs. 10.10 lakh for the purchase of a house.

The deception unfolded when Ramachandra, acquainted with a real estate broker named Prabhu, was informed by Prabhu that a house (No. 267) owned by Mahadevaiah and his son Rahul in KSRTC Layout 2nd Stage, Nadanahalli, was available for sale at Rs. 61 lakh. On May 22, 2023, Mahadevaiah and Rahul accepted Rs. 10.10 lakh as advance payment and finalised the sale agreement. However, matters took a dubious turn when Prabhu, Mahadevaiah, and Rahul executed another sale agreement in the name of one Chinnappaiah on June 21, 2023 — a development that Ramachandra soon discovered. He confronted the three parties, urging them to complete the transaction by accepting the remaining payment and facilitating the property's registration in his name.

Regrettably, the trio remained unresponsive to Ramachandra's requests and failed to refund the advance amount, effectively perpetrating fraud against him, as detailed in his complaint. The Nazarbad Police have registered a case.

WORD OF THE DAY

Fungible

Pronunciation: FUN-juh-bul.
Meaning: Fungible describes things, such as currency, goods and commodities, that can be exchanged for something else of the same kind or value. In broader usage, fungible can also mean "interchangeable," as well as "readily changeable to adapt to new situations."
Origin: Before expectations about origins of fungible mushroom into mycological fantasy: no, fungible has no relation to noun fungus and its plural fungi. The fungi in fungible is there because of the Latin verb fungi, meaning "to perform," ancestor of both fungible and function. Fungible is considerably less familiar than its cousin to most English users, but it pops up like toadstools (sorry) in legal, technological, and economic contexts. Something described as fungible can be exchanged for something else of the same kind. For example, when we say "oil is a fungible commodity," we mean that when a purchaser is expecting a delivery of oil, any oil of the stipulated quantity and quality will usually do. Another example of something fungible is cash. It doesn't matter what twenty dollar bill you get — it's still worth same amount as any other twenty dollar bill. In contrast, something like a work of art (or an NFT, aka a "non-fungible token") isn't fungible; a purchaser would expect a specific, identifiable item to be delivered. In broader use, fungible can mean "interchangeable," or sometimes "readily changeable to adapt to new situations.".
Example: "Network television operates a little differently from its streaming counterparts. Episode orders are more fungible and networks also have the benefit of airing reruns." — Alec Bojalad and David Crow, DenOfGeek.com, 11 May 2023.

THE ODD WORD

Farcinate

To fill the stomach with food.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Flesh and blood

Meaning: When you say that someone is your own 'Flesh and Blood' you are denoting that they are, or are like, part of your family. The term is also used to refer to mankind in general.
Origin: The phrase 'Flesh and Blood' is ancient, with the first reference being found in print circa 1000 CE in an Old English translation of the Bible, the Anglo-Saxon Gospels, Matthew XVI 17.
Example: "She's my own flesh and blood; I can't believe she treated me that way!"

QUOTE BOX

The purpose of literature is to turn blood into ink. — T.S. Eliot
